Oakwood has so many choices. I can do anything when I grow up!

At Oakwood University, our students form a part of history. They continue the grand legacy of those who have changed history. Since its founding in 1896, Oakwood has proven itself to be a major force in academic studies and performing arts by promoting a high standard for Christ-centered higher education.

WELCOME to a new year at Oakwood

—a place your dreams can call home!

Since its founding by the Seventh-day Adventist Church in 1896, Oakwood University has prepared students for service to local, national, and international communities. At Oakwood, we are committed to the spiritual nurture and character development of each student, with the goal of developing servant leaders.

This development can begin as early as kindergarten or in elementary school. We want to thank the staff of the Child Development Laboratory (in the Cooper Science Complex) and the Oakwood Adventist Academy, and the parents of our younger models in this year's calendar.

Oakwood's student body is diverse, in every sense of the word—geographically, culturally, educationally, and socioeconomically. Oakwood's unique brand of spirituality, with its passion and substance, is reflected in our faculty, staff, and students. A growing enrollment, competitively-priced tuition, a lifelong "family" of relationships, a dedicated alumni, a highly-accomplished faculty, a caring and dedicated staff, and a committed Board of Trustees, combine to make Oakwood a compelling place to study, and an attractive, safe place where dreams can grow.

Oakwood is not only a place with a rich past and an accomplished present, but a bright future as well. Being prepared for society's needs and challenges has always been the foundation of education. At Oakwood, the "future focus" is one of the cornerstones of our educational practices. Whether you're learning in the classroom for your intended career or bowing your head in worship, the focus will always be the future, YOUR future. We know that God has entrusted us with the enlargement of His work to the world through our students. With His continued guidance, we know that the fulfillment of our calling is on the way.

Oakwood University looks forward with you to the 2017-2018 school year and beyond. At Oakwood, we are committed to making plans that are destined to fail except the Lord intervenes. We trust that no matter what, God will bring us into the destiny that He has promised.

Moving forward,

Leslie N. Pollard, Ph.D., D.Min., M.B.A
President, Oakwood University

Dream & Grow in ATHLETICS

What college experience is complete without extracurricular activities? There is something for everyone here and if athletics is what you want, Oakwood competes in the United States Collegiate Athletic Association, Division I, where our men's basketball team has won three national championships. We also offer teams for men in soccer and baseball. Our women compete in volleyball, soccer, basketball and softball. We also have lighted tennis courts, a running track, swim clubs that practice in our swimming pool, racquetball and a fun-fill roller skating rink.

Dream & Grow in SPIRITUAL LIFE

God First! It's not just our institutional aim; it's the very core round which our identity, ethics, values, relationship and curricula orbits. Whether it's in the classrooms, residence halls, dining hall on the campus green or everywhere in between, we strive to put God first in everything that we do. Simply put, it's a way of life. So many ministries and mission opportunities to choose from, such as choirs, drama clubs, outreach and mission groups - you can be an active partner in ministry here. Use your talents and discover new ones as together, we seek to serve God and our fellow man.

Dream & Grow in LAW

The Department of History & Political Science prepares students to use the disciplines of history, political science, pre-law, and international studies as analytical tools to understand the dynamics of today's ever-changing and complex society. The knowledge gleaned from the courses taught in the department will promote a sound academic background and both spiritual and moral values. In addition, the student will learn to appreciate the diversity of a growing multicultural global society.

Dream & Grow in EDUCATION

The programs in the Education Department are designed to prepare teachers for certification in Seventh-day Adventist church schools and in public school systems, as well as for graduate study in education and related fields. The department's conceptual framework is built on the theme—"Holistic Preparation of Teachers for Service in a Multicultural Society" and provides the framework for the teaching and assessment systems to help students gain knowledge, skills, and dispositions to become effective teachers.

Dream & Grow in ACCOMPLISHMENT

Graduation...the conclusion of one chapter and the beginning of another. Here at Oakwood University, where students are educated for the purpose of service, our graduates are prepared to go out and tackle whatever challenges that the world can throw at them. Armed with a biblically-based education, a drive to succeed and a heart to care for others, we know that an Oakwood graduate is a well-prepared future leader of society. The Oakwood experience doesn't stop at graduation, with a network of alumni and friends all over the world, Oakwood alumni are never alone wherever they choose to settle.

Biology Major

Dream & Grow in SCIENCE

It is the purpose of the Departments of Biological Sciences and Chemistry to develop in its students a thorough understanding and an appreciation of the principles underlying the basic functions of living organisms. These departments aim to provide students with quality Christian education that integrates faith with science, technology and learning. The curriculum is designed for students wishing to enter graduate, medical, dental, veterinary, or allied health schools, as well as for those planning careers as chemists, biochemists, researchers and health care professionals and those that want to teach in elementary or secondary schools. The Departments prepare graduates to serve humanity in fulfillment of their educational objectives.
